

A study on workers participation management in union bank of India

Magdalene Peter ¹ and S. Fabiyola Kavitha ²

Abstract

WPM is commonly discussed with in the industrial relations. It means a participative arrangement of employee and employer in an organization. Using this WPM method organizations are able to achieve the desired goal and trying make productivity 3. Collective bargaining is a term synonymous with trade unions and their activates. Workers participation in management is used to organization to take effective decision about the process. In this article it is explain about the workers participation in management at Union bank of India 2.

Keywords

Workers participation in management, Employees, employers

¹ Department of Management Studies, Bharath Institute of Higher Education and Research, Selaiyur, Chennai-600073, Tamil Nadu, India.

² Department Of Management Studies, SRM Arts College, Trichy, Tamil Nadu, India.

Article History: Received 01 October 2020; Accepted 10 December 2020

©2020 MJM.

Contents

1	Introduction	948
2	Review of literature	948
3	Need of the study	948
4	Scope of the study	949
5	Objectives of the study	949
5.1	Secondary Objectives	949
5.2	Data analysis and interpretation	949
6	Interpretation.....	949
7	Inference	949
8	Interpretation.....	949
9	Inference	949
10	Interpretation.....	949
11	Inference	950
12	Interpretation.....	950
13	Chi-Square test.....	950
14	Findings	950
15	Suggestions	951
16	Conclusion	951
	References	951

1. Introduction

Organizations are becoming more aware about the importance of human resources, i.e. workforce. This importance is created by realization of the fact that people sub-system is a critical dimension which required for the effectiveness of the organization. Real life experience substantiates the assumption that no matter how competitive and modern business activities of the organization become, This realization has propelled Human Resource Management in to a major field of subject to study in recent years and this renewed interested has facilitated in the field of newer approaches for managing human resources of all the organization.

2. Review of literature

”Adewumi(1991)” :Worker participation has been explained as a plank of industrial democracy.

3. Need of the study

- To analyze the participation of workers in UBI Ltd.
- To understand the methods used to motivate the workers.
- To understand the HR policies and rewards.
- To analyze the training process.

4. Scope of the study

- To understand the workers participation at UBI Ltd.
- To analyze how training process is done.
- To analyze workers capability.
- To analyze the level of bond between workers and management.

5. Objectives of the study

5.1 Secondary Objectives

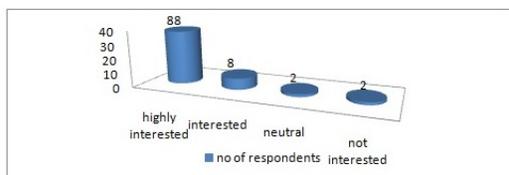

- To analyze the satisfaction level of the workers.
- To analyze the solidarity of the workers.
- To understand the workers-supervisors relation at the work place.
- To analyze the training process.
- To analyze the method of motivation.

5.2 Data analysis and interpretation

Table showing the employees opinion regarding the Interest of the management in the participative decision making

Opinion	No of respondents	Percentage
Highly interested	88	88%
Interested	8	8%
Neutral	2	2%
Not interested	2	2%
Total	100	100%

Interest of the management in the participative decision

making

6. Interpretation

From the above diagram, the total number of respondents is 100; from those 100 respondents 88 workers have an opinion that the management is showing high interest on participative decision making. 8 respondents telling that management is just interested. And 2 people having a neutral response and the rest 2 people have an opinion that the management is showing no interest on participative decision making.

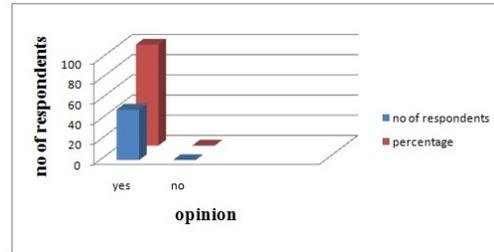

7. Inference

By analysing the conclusion, 88% of the whole responders have the same opinion that the management is showing interest in participative decision making. And the rest of the workers have different opinions.

Role of WPM in building and maintaining good relationship

Opinion	No of respondents	Percentage
Yes	100	100%
No	0	0%
Total	100	100%

Role of workers participation in building and maintaining relationship

8. Interpretation

Charts describing that 100% of the responders have the opinion that the participative management helps in building and maintaining good relationship with management. And 0% has opinion as 'no'. Blue colour bar represents the number of respondents and red colour bar represents the level of percentage.

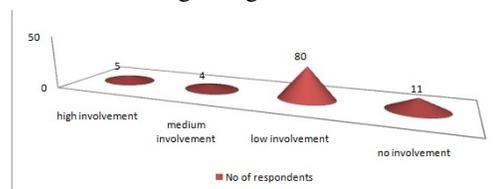

9. Inference

It is a common question and every employee has the same opinion as 'yes'

Table showing the level of involvement of employees in decision making regarding work rules

Opinion	No of respondents	Percentage
High involvement	5	5%
Medium Involvement	4	4%
Low involvement	80	80%
No involvement	11	11%
Total	100	100%

Level of involvement of employees in decision making regarding work rules

10. Interpretation

This diagram shows the level of involvement of employees in decision making. 5% of employees agreeing that they have high involvement while making the decision regarding work rules. 4%employees have medium involvement and 80% of employees have low involvement, 11% have no involvement at all.

11. Inference

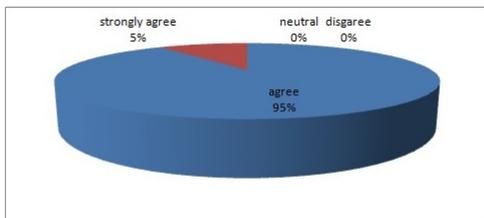

The numbers of employees who have low involvement in decision making regarding work rules are high. And low involved employees are also there. This is showing a negative work atmosphere in the organisation.

Table showing the opinion of employees on whether worker’s and management’s relation is necessary for a company’s

Opinion	No of respondents	Percentage
Agree	95	95%
Strongly agree	5	5%
Neutral	0	0%
Strongly disagree	0	0%
Disagree	0	0%
Total	100	100%

growth

Necessity of worker’s and management’s relation for a company’s growth.

12. Interpretation

This table and graph is the representation of the numbers of workers who agreed that education is necessary for making the workers participation effectively and those who don’t agree.95% is agreeing on that and 5% is not agreeing.

13. Chi-Square test

Interest of the management in the participative decision

	Observed N	Expected N	Residual
highly interested	38	12.5	25.5
Interested	8	12.5	-4.5
Neutral	2	12.5	-10.5
not interested	2	12.5	-10.5
Total	50

making

4.24 Opinion of the employees towards the workers participation

	Observed N	Expected N	Residual
Positive	46	25.0	21.0
Neutral	4	25.0	-21.0
Total	50

4.25 Level of interest of the management in promoting joint decision makings

	Observed N	Expected N	Residual
interested	42	25.0	17.0
Neutral	8	25.0	-17.0
Total	50

Level of satisfaction of the employees towards the Union bank’s participative decision making

	Observed N	Expected N	Residual
Satisfied	28	16.7	11.3
Neutral	20	16.7	3.3
not satisfied	2	16.7	-14.7
Total	50

4.29 Table showing the Test statistics of the Chi-square test

	Interest of the management in the participative decision making	opinion of the employees towards the workers participation	level of interest of the management in promoting joint decision makings	level of satisfaction of the employees towards the Union bank’s participative decision making	The satisfaction level of the employee with other employee’s participation in Union Bank	the level of satisfaction on the initiative taken by Union Bank of India on employee welfare measures
Chi-Square	71.280 ^a	35.280 ^c	23.120 ^c	21.280 ^d	56.560 ^a	40.960 ^d
Df	3	1	1	2	3	2
Asymp. Sig.	.000	.000	.000	.000	.000	.000
Sig.	.000 ^a	.000 ^b	.000 ^b	.000 ^b	.000 ^b	.000 ^b

14. Findings

- 92% of the employees have a positive approach towards workers participation. And the rest have a neutral opinion.
- Here not all the employees are allowed to make suggestions to improve or change the existing facilities.
- Only a 20% of employees involving in decision making of workers safety and health.
- 84% of the employees agreed that the management is interested in promoting joint decision makings.

- From the whole employees 56% satisfied with UBI's participative decision making. And 40% have a neutral opinion.
- 4% of the respondents are dissatisfied with UBI's participative decision making.
- While making the decision process 62% of the employees are interested to become a part of that. 6% are not interested and 22% are highly interested.

15. Suggestions

The organisation should give opportunity to all the employees to become a part of decision makings².

There should be more joint decision making when it is regarding the welfare measures and other related activities.

Union Bank has workers participation schemes, but there should be more participation from the workers from all the levels of departments.

More employment welfare programmes can motivate the workers to perform well, and participation level of the workers can also increase.

16. Conclusion

The overall analysis of workers participation in the Union Bank of India was good. The workers participation in the Bank was not excellent but it was good. Comparing the whole levels in the organization, workers participation in middle and lower level were slightly less. But the overall performance of the management in workers participation was satisfactory. Still they are lacking some measures to motivate the workers. The management required good facilities to provide for the whole employees in such a way that employees become satisfied and participation level will increase automatically³.

References

- [1] K.Ashwathappa, Human Resource and Personnel Management Text and Cases, New Delhi, Tata Mc Grew Hill, (2004).
- [2] A study of workers participation in management decision making at bhel, hyderabad, International Journal of Marketing, Financial Services and Management Research, 1(9)(2012), 2277-3622.
- [3] Workers Participation in Management as Ambivalence Approach: A study of Sugar Industry of Haryana, Global Research analysis.

ISSN(P):2319 – 3786
Malaya Journal of Matematik
ISSN(O):2321 – 5666

